To the Courteous

READERS.

Readers,

Your Generous Acceptance hath given me Encouragement to Present you with an Ephemeris of the Cœlestial Motions for the Year 1702. The Method the same as it was last Year, it then being so contracted, that it has given a general satisfaction to several Gentlemen, and therefore I shall keep it in the same, without any more alteration. The Aspects I have but incerted to days, imitating the ingenious Hecker in his Ephemeris, and the Planet's Places are very carefully Calculated from the Caroline Tables, and incerted to whole Degrees, which is near enough for any ordinary business, except the Sun and Moon, which are to Degrees and Minutes.

But they that would have them more exact, may be supplied with the double Ephemeris, Printed Annually, by that most ingenious, and exact Calculator, my very good Friend, Mr. George Parker; it being the most exact that ever was Printed.

And finding a Revolutional Figure much desired, and by some very acceptable, I have in this incerted a Scheme of the Sun's ingress into Aries, with some short judgment thereon. Where Note, that although I have hinted a word or two of the great Conjunction this Year, yet, their Effects seldom, or never, are so soon demonstrated to us, as other instances of the inferiour Planets; and therefore not to be expected this Year, but another, when you shall have a larger Account from your Annual Friend, and Servant,

Whom God long Preserve

William the Great, Faith's chief Defence, the main
Prop of all Europe, Albion's Sovereign,
England's Glory, Holland's Bulwark, France's King,
Heaven's Darling, the World's Wonder, Honour's Spring,
The Wisest Prince that ever yet did Sway
A Scepter; or, a People's Love & Duty.

January hath xxxi days.

Hail Blooming Year! Heaven ne'er deny thy smiles
 To our Great Monarch, and his Happy Isles;
 May his Wife Councils every where Succeed,
 Whilst all his Foes, with Grief, do inward Bleed;
 We safe at Home, in Peace, yet Fierce and Bold,
 Tho' Janus brings this Month increase of Cold.

February hath xxviii days.

VVhence flows the hidden Springs of Nature's Store,
That this Month seems to open rather more,
Replenishing than others Ponds, and Ditches
(As Misers fill their Mony-bags with Riches)
But this is surely for a secret Store,
Against th' approaching Spring that's never poor.

March hath xxxi days

So Welcome March, yea rather more
 Than Romulus esteemed heretofore.
 I greet thee, for the Spring thou bringest, but He
 Only for th' Warlike Name enjoy'd by thee,
 Renowned for the Spring's a better Name,
 Than other empty Martial Types of Fame.

April hath xxx days.

Happy the Man, whose Soul exerts his Birth,
 From Heaven extracted, Scorns the Chains of Earth,
 But upward mounes, spite of Imprisoning Clay,
 And views the quiet Realms of genuine day,
 Here Nature 'midst the shining Orbs is seen
 Enrob'd, in Glory and exerts the Queen.

May hath xxxi days.

Here Rules in State Majestick, and from hence
Sheds on the Earth a distant influence,
Let Flooding Sots in trifling works ingage,
Recount the Actions on the World's great Stage,
For Ages past in dusty Volumns pry,
And trace Mankind back to their Infancy.

June hath xxx days.

A Nobler Scene invites my thoughts to roam,
 Not what is past, but what's to come,
 As far as Poets yield to, the Prophets name
 Her place about the Arts, Astrology doth claim.
 Astrology! O Science all Divine,
 VVhat Praises can be spoke that are not thine?

July hath xxxi days.

By which an open way to Man is given

To search secret Depths, and read the Will of Heaven,
Our Souls, while thus employ'd, are like the space,
Which we do our Contemplation place;
No Storms so high to reach your Regions, swell
Nor we, nor Sky, the Fury fear, which each foretell.

August hath xxxi.

But some will urge, to tell them if we can,
 How senseless Stars, can Act on thinking Man,
 Were not the Soul close with the Body joyn'd
 To this her Prison, in strong Chains confin'd:
 Did she not hence her Notices receive.
 Become susceptible of Joy, and grief.

September hath xxx' days.

Did she not wholly to the Body owe
 What e'er she feels, what e'er she doth know,
 We then might wonder, that the Stars make Fate,
 That Matter can on Spirits Operate,
 When gathering Clouds contract the Hemisphere,
 And Damps descending, clog the Lazie Fear.

October hath xxxi days.

Observe but then the Motions of the Eye,
Where the Soul's Movements you may best descry,
Trough this her Windows you may plainly view
The Goddess's Flag, beneath the Elemental Dew,
But when the weary Mists at length are fled,
And now no more, th' Etherial Plains are spread.

November hath xxx days.

When lightned Air transmits the Sun's vivifick Ray,
 And every heart welcomes returning Day;
 The Vigorous Spirits to the Eye resort,
 And Vegent Joys around the Temple's sport,
 But granting that; we still must own the Mind,
 Be Free, Unsubingated, Unconfin'd.

December hath xxxi days.

The Eupire o'er himself to Man is given.
 Outward Events to th' Influence of Heaven;
 Hence deep Designs, we often frustrate see,
 Nor wisest Plots can baffle Fate's Decree;
 Decrees of Fate writ in the Stars we know
 Not to elude, but break the coming Blow.

OF THE ECLIPSES
For the Year, 1702.

There will be Three Eclipses this Year, viz. two of the Sun, and two of the Moon, but none of them will be visible to us here in England, and they will be in the following Order.

The First of the Sun, on January the 17th. at two in the Morning, and therefore Invisible to us in England.

The Second of the Sun, on July the 13th. at ten at Night, and not to be seen in any part of all Europe.

The Third will be of the Moon, on December the 23d. and no part of it will be seen of us, but in Germany, and the more Eastern Parts they will have a sight of it in the end thereof.

THE Author hereof, by his many Years Practice both in Physick and Astrology, hath attained to the Cure of the most Malignant Distempers incident to Mankind As Scurvy, Dropsie, Gout, Rheumatisms, French-Pox, &c. and all other Diseases whatsoever, with great Care, Diligence, Secrecy, Safety, and Honesty. He also Calculates Nativities most exactly, and, and teacheth the whole Art of Astrology at his House, at the Bee-hive and Globe, in Gun-yard, Houndsditch London.

Astrological Judgements for the Year, 1702.

AS no Art, or Science in the World, since the first being, hath met with an Universal Entertainment, without some Critical Opposers, (nay, Divinity it self, we all know, scarce passes Current, with some overnice Palates, but they must even broach some of their own Atheistical Notions, as more Divine,) even so this Celestial Science of Astrology, is by some censured, either as Superstitious, or of no use at all, but this is only by such as never understood it thoroughly; and as it hath met with its Ignorant Opposers, so it hath not wanted some of the most Learned, in all Ages, to Vindicate it, and that have themselves made some curious Observations upon the Celestial Bodies, which are the only Subject of that Sacred Science, as the Divine Du Bartas Sings.

I'll ne'er believe, that Arch Architect,
With all those Fires, the Heavenly Arches deckt,
Only for shew, and with those glittering Shields,
Tamaze poor Shepherds watching in the Fields:
I'll ne'er believe, that the least Power that pranks
Our Golden Borders, or the Common Banks;
And the least Stone, that in her warming Lap,
Our kind Nurse, Earth, Covetously doth wrap;
Hath some peculiar Virtue of its own,
And that the Glorious Stars of Heaven have none.

And the Learned Sir Walter Raleigh hath well and truly observed, That it cannot be doubted, but the Stars are Instruments of far greater use, than to give an obscure Light, and for Men only to gaze at after Sun-set; it being manifest that the diversity of Seasons, the Winter, and Summer, more Hot or Cold, more Wet or Dry, are not so uncertain by the Sun and Moon alone, who always keep one and the same Course; but that the Stars have also their working therein; as also in producing several kinds of Metals and Minerals in the Bowels of the Earth, where neither Light nor Heat can pierce; for as Heat pierces where Light cannot, so the Influence pierces where Heat cannot.

Astrological Judgement

And then Virgil, the Prince of Poets :

Observe the Starry Signs,
Where Saturn's Houses, and where Hermes Joyns;
But first, to Heaven thy due Devotions pay,
And Annual Gifts on Ceres's Altar lay.

And a little after,

The Sun reveals the secrets of the Sky,
And who dares give the Source of Light the Lye?
The Changes of Empires often he declares,
Fierce Tumults, hidden Treasures, open Wars.
He first the Fate of Cæsar did foretell,
And pity'd Rome, when Rome in Cæsar fell.
In Iron-Clouds conceal'd the Publick Light.
And Impious Mortals, fear'd Eternal Night.

And thus those Great, and Learned Men you hear, took those excellent Observations from the Stars and Planets, and without doubt were well satisfied with their Influences, otherwise they would never have given their Suffrages as above, and from the same Stars and Planets I shall proceed to give some Astrological Judgements for this Year, 1702.

But first I will present you with the Positions of the Heavens for the Winter-Solstice, which begins when the Sun enters the first Scruple of the Cœlestial Sign Capricornus, which according to the Caroline Tables, is upon the 10th. Day of December, 1701. at 11 Hours, 40 Min. P. M. at which time there will be Π , 25 degr. Culminating, and Π 26 deg. 9 min. upon the Horoscope. The most remarkable Positions in the Figure are the Moon, (which generally signifies the Common People) separating from an opposition of Saturn, which imports some uneasiness that they have been in, through some Fears and Jealousies, stirred up by some Saturnine Persons, as may very plainly be seen by his late Affliction of Mercury. Lord of the Ascendant, by a quartile Aspect, but these Fears and Jealousies will soon Vanish, by the approaching Sextile Aspect of Venus and Mercury, which will produce both Trade and Money in Plenty, as being Lords of the tenth and second Houses, and also of the ninth, which will also signify good, and welcome News from beyond the Sea, as the return of our Merchant-Ships, whereby a general content and satisfaction, will, undoubt-doubtedly accrue to all Persons of what degree soever, and then Jupiter, who is Lord of the Fourth House, which signifies the end of all things, is in a partile trine aspect to Mars, who is the General Significator to England, and strong in his own House, also Venus the other Fortunate Planet casts her trine Aspect to the part of Fortune, and second House, likewise the Sun hastens to a Sextile of Jupiter; all which Positions being carefully considered, do most certainly presage a good and happy conclusion to this Winter-Quarter. And thus,

May I not tell it when the Stars foreshews,
Joy to our Friends, Disasters to our Foes ?
Fates guide us, unto Fates yield we,
Care cannot alter their Decree ;
For what we suffer, what we do,
Cœlestial Orbs, proceeds from you.
All go on in a prefixed way,
The first prescribeth the last Day. Sen. in Oedip.

And so I shall proceed to the Sun's Ingress into the first scruple of Aries, of which you are here presented with a Scheme as follows from the Caroline Tables

For under that spangled Vault the Starry Sphere,
If Titan's course should only every year,
The Weather's Temper change ; then plainly we,
The next Year's Weather might in this foresee.
Compare two Years, and there but little want,
But the same day, some Stars are Culminant :
Their Risings, Settings, on the same day fall,
Acronique, Cosmique, and Heliacal.
This Constancy would yield to no Mutations,
Did not the Planets oft consociations
Their Power interpose : by whose Aspects
I'th Heaven are caus'd those various chang'd effects ;
Their various Course is such, so strange their Race,
The Earth ne'er saw them twice unchang'd i'th face ;
This Protean mixture of the seven together,
Will cause a Protean daily change of Weather.
For when Winter's Rage abates, when cheerful hours
Awake the Spring, and Spring awakes the Flowers.

Here I find the Regal Sign Sagittarius upon the Ascendant, and Jupiter Lord of the Ascendant signifying England, strong, and in his own house, which presages great Felicity, and Prosperity to the Kingdom in General, as an increase of Trade, with plenty of Money, and all other things that can make a Nation really happy in it self, then here the Moon, which is the general significator of the Common People, is posited in the Ascendant, and in a trine Aspect to Venus, Lady of the tenth House, who is the Significator of the King, and those in Authority under him, which Planet is essentially dignified, as being in her own House; all which does represent the present State, and Grandeur of his Majesty of Great Britain, and shews how intirely he hath the hearts of his Subjects link'd to him, with the Chain of Love, as being so thoroughly well satisfied with his Excellent Conduct, and so well fix'd in their due Obedience

on the Year, 1702.

Obedience and Duty to his most Sacred Person, (whom God long Preserve) that no Power on Earth, will be capable of shaking or removing, no nor at least, not able to create any misunderstanding between him and his Subjects, the one so indefatigably studying the other's Interest, and the other so ready to give signal proofs, upon all occasions, of their Fidelity, and Loyalty; so that it may be a question, Whether the one can be more ready to Command, than the other is to Obey?

Neither can I find by this Figure, that any Persons will ever presume to go about, or endeavour to foment any underhand Differences, or Vexatious Debates; for here is Mercury, who is Lord of the Seventh House, in a Trine Aspect, to the very Degree of Ascending, which to me intimates, That if not the Design, yet the Proceedings of our Enemies, should redound to our Advantage and Interest, whether they are Foreign or Domestick; but as there is no Figure, but what hath some Unfortunate Positions: For in this, here is Mars, Lord of the Fourth, in the Ascendant; and altho' in my Judgment, I find that he will not much Afflict it, as being a Sign of his own Nature; yet the Learned Haly saith: Cum Mars in aliquo Angulorum Revolutionum anni fuerit, movebuntur lites, secundum potentiam quam habuerit, similiter etiam faciet, si quando fuerit in quadratura Saturni, & Jovis: When Mars in any Revolution of the Year, is found in any of the Angles, it excites Wars, and Quarrels, according to the power he hath; in like manner, if he apply to the square of Saturn, and Jupiter.

And Albunazer hath it to the same purpose, viz. Mars, Cum fuerit in Revolutione anni, in aliquo Angulorum quocunque fuerit, excitat bellum, cumque fuerit in quartili aspectu Saturni, & Jovis: Mars, when in any Revolution of the Year of the World, is in an Angle, be it which it will, he excites and stirs up Wars and when he is in a square of Saturn, and Jupiter.

And then again, the above-mentioned Haly saith, Si fuerit Mars in ariete, vel triplicitate sua, & directus, accident homibuss infirmitates calidae, & siccae, & Reges invicem discordabunt, & rixabunt: If Mars be in Aries, or his triplicity, Direct, Men shall be troubled with hot and dry Diseases, and and Kings shall Disagree among themselves and Fight)

These are the Aphorisms of the Learned Authors, but yet I cannot think they will take place, as to the particulars in this Figure; for as Mars casts his Trine into Aries his own House, and the general Significator of England, as being its Ascendant; and although he be in a Quartile of Jupiter, yet Jupiter is very strong, as being in the Sign Pisces, his own House, and disposes of Mars in Sagittary, which is his other House: So that from hence I Judge, if there should be any Irruption abroad, or misunderstanding between this Kingdom and other Princes, it will most certainly, according to second Causes, be to the Loss, Damage, and Disadvantage of those that are our Enemies, because Mars does dispose of Mercury, Lord of the Seventh, and also darts his opposition into the Seventh House, which is the only Significator of publick Enemies, and then Venus Lady of the Tenth House does send forth her Trine Aspect into the Ascendant, which excellently shews the extraordinary care diligence, and vigilance of our Senators, and Chief Men in Authority, in the Government, to prevent any thing in that nature, and also shews that they cannot be Surprized, and also how ready they are provided against any Opposition that can come, and withal, that they are capable of quashing any thing in that nature, even in the Bud, before it appears. Or if they should admit of any Warlike Proceedings, or Actions, to be carried on further, it will be only by way of Strategem, to take the greater advantage over the Enemy, and to Revenge with more Bravery, the False, and Perfidious, Insulting Inroachments of that Enemy that puts so little value upon all Oaths, and Treaties, that did use to be, and still are among all Nations (theirs excepted) kept so inviolably Sacred, that the very Turks believe, that God will not suffer such Breach of Vows to go Unrevenged, witness, Amurath the 11d. the Sixth Emperour of Turkey, when he Invoked Heaven (to Revenge the League broken between Uladislaus, King of Hungary, and himself, in the Year, 1444.) Saying, Revenge thou the great Injury done both to thy Name and me, and accordingly it so was Revenged; and so we need not question but our Enemies will find it to their great Wonder and Amazement, if ever they come to use any Acts of Hostility, against the most Victorious

on the Year, 1702.

rious Arms of William the Great; who, to their Admiration, they will see the greater part of the whole World endeavour to Court, and never Conquer; he being preserved by Heaven it self, as the Guardian Angel of these Nations, and their Confederates.

Then again, as Mars is Lord of the Eleventh House, which is the House of Friendship, Hope, Allies, or Assistance of the Kingdom where the Figure is Erected for, and in the Ascendant; this also shews that we shall live in mutual Love, and keep a good Correspondence with such as are or have been our Allies, and that we shall be capable of obtaining, nay, even of Commanding Assistance, if occasion should be, with much more ease than other Princes can do, or else we shall have some new, and considerable Correspondences, Negotiations, and Ambassages sent to propose some New Leagues, or Affinities, to the great Advantage and profit of these Kingdoms in General. Venus here also is Stationary to Retrogradation, and by her Retrograde Motion applies to a Trine of Mars, which will much facilitate the Matter; for it will incline, or make willing the hearts of our great Ones, to accept of such Proposals, as will, or may be the Prodromus, of a Happy, and Peaceable Conclusion to all those Troubles, that may unhappily be feared from the aforesaid Position of Mars. So that,

Insuing Times shall Sacred Peace install,
Religion, Ancient Faith, and Concord shall
Just Laws Ordain: The Doors of Horrid War,
Huge Links of Brass, and Iron-Bolts shall barr.
Dire Fury breathing Blood, within shall sit,
On heaps of Arms; his hands behind him knit.

So that those Positions being all thus considered, we have no cause, either to fear Enemies abroad, or Male-contentants at home.

Stay here, my Muse! a while behold the Spheres,
With Musick-Raptures entertain thine Ears!
Here spread thy Pinions, and towards Heaven fly,
Urania's Mysteries to Read i'th Sky.
Where every Planet darts a Noble Flame,
Elucidating its Creator's Name.

Whereas

Astrological Judgement

Whereas the Assyrian did at first give Law,
 And kept the Trembling Nations all in Awe :
 Next, the Stout Mede (when he began to fall)
 Spread Conquering Banners o'er the Earth's Great Ball :
 The Persian then, with a Majestick Strength,
 Mounts the vast Theater, but stoops at length
 To that brave Macedonian Youth, whose Mind,
 In one poor Globe disdain'd to be Confin'd :
 At last the Roman Eagle snatch'd away
 The Diadem, and made the World its Prey.
 But now Rome Faints, and the Great William's Name,
 Obtains all Honours, with immortal Fame,
 Which never did create a Constellation,
 More Glorious, and Propitious to this Nation,
 Than that great Name, Great Britain's only King,
 Whose Glorious Acts, both Men and Angels Sing.
 And thus these Starry Powers: (though seeming more)
 The Vanity and Pride of Life Confute.

Here is only one thing more to be considered, and that is, in May there will be a Famous Conjunction of the two Superiour Planets, Saturn and Jupiter, in the Cardinal Sign Aries, which is very Remarkable, as not having been conjoynd in that Sign these 724. Years before.

Most ancient Authors do agree, that such a Conjunction in that Sign does portend great Changes in those Countries subject to that Sign; and it hath been also observed, that after such a Conjunction in a Fiery Sign, there has appeared a Comet, or other Fiery Meteor, as after their Conjunction in the Sign Sagittary, Ann, 814. before the Death of that Invincible, and most Renowned Emperour, Carolus Magnus, there ensued in like manner, a Terrible, and Tragical Comet; and if a Comet should now arise, then those Effects must be looked for, viz. much scorching, and vehement heat, with the drying up of Fords, and deep Waters, Barren and Unfruitful Fields, and, consequently, a Dearth of Cattel and many Diseases among Men.

But if no Comet appears, there shall doubtless be seen other Terrible, and Frightful Visions in the Heavens, and many very strange and Terrible Sight in the middle Region of the Air; as Fiery Meteors, Flashings, and Flamings of Fire,

on the Year, 1702.

Fire, wonderful Trajections and Impressions, with much Lightning and Thunder, mix'd with Hail: But as the Benevolent Planet Venus at the same time is in the same Sign, and Jupiter having a Triplicity in the Sign, and by so much the more essentially Dignified, we may rationally conjecture, that their Effects may not be altogether so Ominous as Authors have Predicted in former times upon such like Positions, which I Pray God grant.

And thus having considered the Sub-Celestials, which, by God's Ordinance, depend upon the Celestial Bodies, and are made subordinate to them; touching which, and the Celestial Bodies both together, I will conclude with the Divine Du Bartas, who thus sweetly, and truly sings;

Things that consist of th' Element's uniting,
Are ever toss'd with an Intestine Fighting;
Whence spring in time, their Life, and their deceasing
Their diverse change, their waxing, and decreasing:
So that, of all that is, or may be seen,
With Mortal Eyes under Night's Horned Queen;
Nothing retaineth the same Form, and Face
Hardly the half of half an hour's space;
But, the Heavens! feel not Fate's Impartial Rigour,
Years add not to their stature, nor their Vigour;
Use wears them not, but their green ever Age,
Is all in all; still like their Pupillage.

AN D now, according to my former Promise, I have here added the Description of the Sign, Gemini, both in it self, and with every Planet posited therein, that the young Artist may see the variation the Planets make.

II. Gives a Person of an upright, straight, and tall Body, well set, a sanguine Complexion, Hazel Eye, the Hair of a Chest-nut-brown, of an acute Wit, and one of an Ingenious Fancy.

Astrological Judgement, &c.

h in II. Gives one of a middle stature, of a dark sanguine Complexion, the Visage oval, the Hair sad-brown, or black, Ingenious but Unfortunate, u in II A curious, decent, well composed plump Body, a sanguine Complexion, rather tall in stature, a brown Hair, a full becoming Eye, a graceful deportment, and of a gentle, mild, and courteous Behaviour,

♂ in II Tall of stature, of a reddish Complexion, stout, and raw-boned, the Hair tending to a Red, or light-Brown, a bold-spirited Person.

☉ in II A well proportioned Body, of a sanguine Complexion, a middle stature, and brown hair, a good dispositioned Person, Vertuous, and Fortunate.

♀ in II. A middle-statured Person, reasonably tall, a slender, well-composed straight Body, brown Hair, and of a moderate clear Complexion.

♂ II. A reasonably tall Person, an upright, straight Body, every way well composed, brown hair, and a moderate good Complexion, an Ingenious Person, and a good Oratour.

♂ in II A well-composed Body, and tall, a moderate good Complexion, not Sanguine, nor Pale, but between both, and the Body very upright and comely.
